"Some one will have to suffer for this outrageous thing," he said to an Evenhave brought this trouble upon her. The necessary steps will be taken by inv lawyers and we will see if it is posthe mire with absoutely nothing on which to base charges of any kind.
"My wife is innozent and is the victim of an unspeakable plot. She had no interest in Mrs. Gould getting a divorce, and in fact she does not know either party to that action. Mrs. Teal knew Bessie DeVoe, but only in an impersional way. Her only acquaintance with Detective Mousley was through his coming to see her about the subletting of our apartment to the actress.

"As for Mabel MacCausland, she is an erratic creature upon whom no dependence can be placed. Why, she was in my office five days ago looking for a position in a chorus. I knew her as Mabel Winters, which was the name she winted to be known under on the stage. When this blow fell the first thing I sid to my wife was, Who is Mabel MacCausland? She saids 'Why, she is the Mabel Winters who has been after you to get her a position on the stage.' Then I remembered the girl. My wife befriended her and this is what she gets for it. It was only through some millibery work that the young woman did for Mrs. Teal that she became acquainted with her.

ad anxious to achieve notoriety. If the matter was not so serious I would say that the whole thing was a press agent yern. I am deeply hurt by the affair. It it had not been Ben Teal's wife I suppose there would not have been so much fuss made over it. To think that my wife is put to all this shame is most distressing."

he said.

Since their marriage two years ago in Boston the Teals have lived in a dozen different apartment houses.

Mrs. Fleming is still in the Tombs because of failure to obtain bail. It is likely that Mr. Teal will secure her release before the day is out. The examination on Friday at 2 P. M. before Magistrete Corrigan promises to be very lively. Assistant District-Attorney Hart will insist on the three defendants being examined together, although the attorneys for the several parties would prefer separate examinations.

BELATED WORKERS SHUT IN.

Policeman Matthews found a big crowd of all 'night cabmen, overflows. hangovers, stick-arounds and souseto the elevator corridor of the Astor Theatre Building, Broadway and Fortyfifth street, early to-day, cheering the efforts of three men on the inside, who were removing a glass panel with a chewdriver and their pocket knives.

Matthews waited until the trio got the flass out and crawled through the opening and then he nabbed them on suspiclion of being house-breakers, although the wasn't quite sure in his own mind whether this charge could properly apply to men who broke out of a houseBut they explained to him that they were merely employees of a distillery company on the fifth floor who had worked late on the books. When they came downstairs at 1 o'clock they found the janitor had locked the doors and departed. Theatre Building, Broadway and Forty-

REMNANTS July Stock Clearing In Various Sections

Chief interest will centre in main floor department where yard goods are sold—Silks, Dress Goods, Cottons, Embroideries and the like. But in every department where there are remnants or odd lines of any sort there will be remnant sale interest.

Fabric stocks provide the greatest attractions—Silks particularly because of the extra quantity of short lengths the mill-cost sale is bringing. Short lengths of both black and colored Silks of every description, at sale prices you would count reasonable for cotton fabrics. In view of the large number of such lengths involved, this goes on record as one of the most interesting Reimant Sales the Macy Silk Store has ever announced. All remnants by the yard-priced from
